

FIRSTHOME™ CERTIFIED AGENTS

FirstHome™ Certified Agents (FHCA) have specific knowledge of North Dakota Housing Finance Agency's (NDHFA) FirstHome and related homeownership programs. These agents have attended a course conducted by NDHFA that describes program eligibility including income and acquisition cost limits, the loan origination process and other information relevant to the agency's programs. The course is certified by the North Dakota Real Estate Commission and agents earn continuing education credits for attendance.

How to become a FirstHome Certified Agent:

- Must be a licensed and active real estate agent in the state of North Dakota.
- Must attend and complete the FirstHome Certified Agent course.
- Must register as a FirstHome Certified Agent online at www.ndhfa.org and maintain FHCA status by updating your contact information when needed.

For more information on the FHCA course, contact the NDHFA's homeownership division or your local real estate board.
